

Relationships, Research and Reflections

A PhD student "Speed-Networking" event hosted by the Centre for the Study of Emotion and Law and
Rights and Freedoms Research Cluster of the Dept. of Law

We are delighted to come together to host an afternoon of 'speed-networking'.

The theme of this event is relationships, research and reflections. Participants will be able to discuss how their research impacts human relationships in wider society as well as their own relationships with their research. This event gives PhD students and staff alike the opportunity not only to discuss the impact of their research but also to reflect on their own research journeys in an open and relaxed environment.

All research fields are welcome. If you feel the themes are less central to, or even challenge your thesis, perhaps you could enliven the debate!

How it works

Participants will sit at tables for 2, with 6 minutes per couple to discuss their research. After each slot there will be a rotation, giving you the chance to talk to a wide variety of people.

1:30- 5:30pm
21 Nov 2019

Poster opportunity

You are also welcome to practise your poster skills and submit a poster, which will be exhibited at the event. Posters may also be used to support your discussions during the speed-dating if you wish.

11 Bedford Square
WC1B 3RF

Refreshments and networking

Continue the discussion afterwards while enjoying drinks and nibbles (provided!) following the 'speed-networking'. This is also an opportunity to meet fellow PhD students and staff from different backgrounds and share your work and ideas in the spirit of interdisciplinary collegiality and support.
